

Nanguo Li

Pear Wine

PRODUCED IN ANSHAN, LIAONING PROVINCE, CHINA

100 YEARS OF WINEMAKING

Cultivated for over 100 years in Anshan, Nanguo pears are seen growing in the Qinshan mountain orchards, filling the air with an enchantingly sweet fragrance throughout the summer. Nestled in the heart of Liaoning Province, Anshan is the exclusive home of Nanguo Li pears.

EVOCATIVE AND UNIQUE AROMA

A local delicacy, celebrated across China, Nanguo pears require specific growing conditions to develop the fruit's distinctive signature flavour. Nanguo pears are sensitive to sunlight, temperature, and soil. They can only be cultivated where growing conditions are perfect for Nanguo Pears.

QUEEN OF PEARS

Nicknamed the “queen of pears”, Nanguo pears are a rare variety fruit native to Northeastern China. These small fruits are one of the top varieties of pears in China and are highly favoured for their rich flavour profile and sweet aroma.

Cong Gang Family Orchards
Anshan, Liaoning Province, China.

